Acting under the written instructions of Mr Jean-Philippe LECOUFFE, Deputy Executive Director of Europol Office and Head of the Minors Protection Brigade, references N°160422900879.

Following analysis and work carried out by our Brigade for the Protection of Minors (BPM) on the computer network, certain traces of your identification data have been identified and you are the subject of several charges:

- ONLINE SEXUAL SOLICITATION AND EXTORTION
- PORNOGRAPHIC SITES
- CYBERPORNOGRAPHY
- PEDOPHILIA
- EXHIBITIONISM

For your information, the law of March 2007 increases penalties when attempted sexual assaults or rapes of minors may have been committed using the Internet. You are asked to send us your justifications by e-mail so that they can be examined and verified in order to assess the penalties; this must be done within a strict deadline of 72 hours.

Once this deadline has passed, we will be obliged to forward our report to Mrs Myriam QUEMENER, Magistrate in the criminal department of the Versailles Court of Appeal, who is an expert in cybercrime. She will draw up an arrest warrant for you and forward it to the police nearest to your place of residence for your arrest.

You will then be registered as a sex offender and we will forward your file to several national television news channels for broadcasting, so that your family, friends and the whole world can see what you are doing in front of your computer.

Now you've been warned.
